

Developing learning literacies in the context of producing/creating information

Attributes / Identities

I am...

Practices
(ways of thinking and acting)

I apply...

Skills

(personal capabilities)

I can - I know how - to do/use...

Functional Access

I have access to...

Awareness

*I know of...
I am aware of...*

LEARNING LITERACIES

Digital Literacies

Information Literacies

Academic Literacies

I am creative in using technologies to develop innovative products and processes, including digital media
I am self-aware and know my needs and preferences with regard to learning and technology use
I am ethical and responsible in the use of other people's content when creating my own work

I make reflective notes in lectures and supervisions and have a strategy for note-making
I create and repurpose content to communicate ideas with different audiences
I repurpose content and information to construct new knowledge and develop new insights
I design projects, problems and questions that are meaningful to myself and others
I adhere to good academic practice in my work

I can select appropriate resources for my assignment, discriminating between good quality academic sources and other sources
I can create multimedia content e.g. photos, video and audio, using a range of media capture devices.
I can use appropriate data collection techniques
I can personalise my digital environment and the services I use
I can use a range of editing applications for different media e.g. photos, video, audio, documents
I can make appropriate use and reuse of openly available content.
I can acknowledge other's ideas and words through citing in my text and provide a full reference, using an appropriate style

I can make notes that reflect key points
I can use media effectively
I can produce posters and visual material appropriate to the discipline
I can create new information that builds on existing information
I can critically appraise content and assess its value for the task at hand

I have access to media editing software
I have access to a wordprocessing package, databases and spreadsheets
I have access to media capture devices such as camera and phone
I have access to technology hardware and printing
I have access to images

I am aware that ideas and opportunities are created by seeking information
I am aware how new technologies allow new forms of information to be created
I am aware of importance of consistency in data collection and the issues involved
I am aware of the importance of avoiding plagiarism
I am aware of open access content that is available for me to reuse